

Finned: The Merworld Water Wars

Hook (pun totally intended): Take a fish-phobic girl, divide her by one hot merman, add a splash of his crazy ex-merbitch, and you get one stinky school year. Sixteen-year-old Marina Valentine is a rule-stretcher in an uptight Texas seaside town. Shes hormonally challenged, curious to a fault, hates fish, and has a dating resume that makes the queen look like a slut. Its not that guys dont ask her out. They do. She just has an unfortunate reaction to dating--uncontrollable gags. Its not exactly a turn on. One by one, her oddball friends start disappearing--much to the joy of the snobby high school royals--and Marina fears she is a walking bulls eye. Inquiries into their disappearances lead to startling, gag-worthy discoveries. Toss in an increasingly inconvenient attraction to one of the royals--who holds the key to solving the mystery...in his fin--and its an anti-fish girls worst nightmare come true. Soon, Marina finds herself at the center of a looming underwater war thats really going to play games with her love life. As time closes in--and the Merpeople officially come out of the ocean--Marina must choose between the lives of her friends, the future of an underwater utopia, and the life of her first love. Theres just one problem. Where does a love-shy, fish-phobic, non-mergirl even begin...especially when her enemy may be the one person she trusted above everyone else?
